

Zofia Milska-Wrzosińska

Psychotherapy: Sparks of Revolution or Preservation of the Already Existing World?

In my speech I will discuss the objections raised against psychotherapy as if it was, on one hand, a kind of new middle-class religion preserving unjust order of the world, and on the other hand a kind of unsubstantiated demoralising attack on traditional values. If the time allows us, I will present a few clinical examples.